PRESCRIPTION SAVINGS PROGRAM FOR HIALEAH RESIDENTS

Hialeah, Florida –

Mayor Julio Robaina and the esteemed City Council, will launch a prescription-drug discount program on Wednesday, February 10, 2010 at various public city facilities. The City of Hialeah has partnered with Envision Pharmaceutical Services, which negotiates with drug companies to obtain lower prices for residents who carry prescription discount cards.

The prescription savings card will be available for city residents at all Hialeah parks and recreation sites, libraries, and at other city facilities including City Hall. The savings card is virtually available to anyone, as it has no age limit, no membership or enrollment fee, no pre-existing condition restrictions, and does not have a limit usage. "This is a great opportunity for our residents to save on medical costs especially in these hard economic times," said Mayor Robaina.

The discounts, which ranges from 5 to 40 percent, depending on the medicine, is available at over 65 Hialeah pharmacies that are among numerous participating in Envision's network. There is also a convenient option of receiving medication by mail. More information can be found by contacting Envision Medical Solutions.
